

FIRST INJURY OF KIND IN THE WORLD SUSTAINED BY A TONOPAH MINER

Dr. James T. Watkins, the celebrated bone specialist, came to Carson yesterday to visit Dr. McDonald Maclean, and incidentally made an examination of several patients suffering from injured members, says the Carson News. At the instance of the Tonopah Mines Hospital association, Dr. Watkins some time ago performed a remarkable operation on Dennis Sullivan of Tonopah. Sullivan was injured in a cave-in in the mines at Tonopah on March 4th, 1915. He came under the care of the Industrial Insurance Commission, and at their suggestion for expert surgical treatment. His hip had been dislocated in such a manner that the ordinary methods of treatment were of no avail, and it was found that there was no record of any similar case. Dr. Watkins therefore decided that it would be necessary to do original work. Accordingly he procured a dead body, and by bending and twisting it, succeeded in creating a condition like the one on which he proposed to operate. He then proceeded to operate on the subject, and after trying several ways of making the incision, determined on the best way. After preparing the man for the operation, an incision was made in the leg, sufficiently large to admit of taking hold of the femur or thigh bone with a powerful pair of forceps, and pulled it back to its place in the socket of the hip. The patient has rapidly recovered, and when asked yesterday as to the condition of the patient, Dr. Watkins said that though he has not yet entirely recovered, he saw no reason why the injured man may not be restored to complete efficiency.

The expense of this operation and the hospital fees, transportation, etc., is borne by the Tonopah Mines Hospital association. The injured man is under the care of the Industrial Insurance Commission, and it is hoped that he will become as good as ever when his wounds heal.

The practice of the Industrial Commission is to do everything that can be done to repair injured men, and to provide the best of care and medical attendance, rather than to let things take their course and simply pay the benefits provided for in case of personal injury.

BUSINESS WITH PERSIA COMING TO AMERICA

(By Associated Press.)

BERLIN, June 12. — America now has a remarkably favorable opportunity to secure the lion's share of the Persian trade, but American business men must adapt their methods to Persian customs or they will fail, according to Dr. Ernst Zahn, Leipzig authority on Persia and the Persians.

Dr. Zahn quoted with approval from a consular report made by the American vice-consul at Teheran in which it is declared that the American business men must reconcile themselves to granting long-time credits, and that business cannot be properly done by correspondence, but must be looked after by personal representatives.

Dr. Zahn found a feeling among the Persians, he said, that the American methods were brusque and failed to pay proper attention to the customs and sensibilities of the people. This was particularly true, he declared, as to American methods of collecting accounts and the refusal to grant long credits. This latter, Dr. Zahn declared, is looked upon by the average Persian as denoting personal distrust of his honesty. Nor must the Persian be hurried. Time is not money in the American sense of haste.

Dr. Zahn said he understood that the American department of commerce and labor is assisting in the securing and distributing of German catalogs of firms formerly doing business in

FINE CROPS IN SIGHT THROUGHOUT GERMANY

IN SPITE OF WAR LARGE TRACTS OF LAND HAVE BEEN RECLAIMED

(By Associated Press.)

BERLIN, June 12.—Everything indicates that Germany will have unusually good grain crops this year. From all parts of the country the reports are most satisfactory. The weather was mild, and thus far the spring weather has been well-nigh ideal.

The rainfall has continued satisfactory in nearly all parts of the country; hence grain and meadow-grass have been making fine progress. Livestock has been turned out to grass, and thus the scarcity of feedstuffs has been relieved. The greatest danger just now for the grain crops is that there may be a relapse of cold weather, which may injure the well-advanced plants. Another factor that is expected to increase Germany's production of grain and other crops is that much moorland has been reclaimed and will now come into cultivation for the first time. The prospects for an excellent fruit crop are also good.

Persia, and he declared this is a very practical idea, for he points out that the Germans had made great progress toward winning the Persian market. Their exports consisted principally of finer textile wares, jewelry, toys and clothing.
